AN INCIDENT OF THE WAR HITHER-TO NOT PUBLISHED.

Story of the First Expedition to Fort Fisher—The Sailing Master of the Ella Knight Tried to Deliver His Charge to the Enemy.

On the first expedition to Fort Fisher a captured blockade runner called the Ella Knight was used as a government transport. The cargo of this vessel was Light Battery E, Third United States artillery, and the Sixteenth New York Independent Light battery. About 100 horses, 12 fieldpieces, 12 caissons and 12 lumber chests made a valuable cargo.

The sailing master's name was Adams, but as we sailed under sealed orders, to be opened off Cape Henry lighthouse, the ranking military officer aboard, who held these orders, became ranking or commanding officer of the ship. This officer was First Lieutenant J. R. Myrick of Light Battery E, Third United States artillery.

Adams, a Baltimore man having some influence, was appointed sailing master in the United States transport fleet. He was a genuine Confederate at heart and had in his mind a way to help the Confederacy, which was to await his opportunity and run the first good cargo in his charge into the Confederates' hands.

As a signal the flagship fired a gun over the waters of Hampton Roads, and the transport fleet of the first expedition, without outside lights, sailed out into the darkness of night—into the broad Atlantic.

The Ella Knight was not the last to reach Cape Henry lighthouse, but when she did the sealed orders were opened and Adams was advised of the ship's destination—Fort Fisher.

Soon after turning southward from Cape Henry the wind began to blow strongly from the south. The sea became extremely rough, the decks were wet and slippery and the horses' stalls gave way. The horses began to slide back and forth on deck, so heavy were the lugs and rolls of the ship. At the same time the guns began to roll on the upper deck. Ropes were procured and the guns lashed through the wheels to prevent rolling on deck and knocking a hole through the transport's sides. Then ropes were stretched lengthwise and through the center of the deck, and several times crosswise to help support the horses, but many were killed and many disabled.

Some time past midnight Adams quietly turned the ship to the north and scudded with the wind. Then at the end of a few hours he turned the ship south again. His orders were to keep within sight of the transport fleet, but when daylight came no transport fleet was in sight. He gave as his excuse that the ship's engines were weak and that he could not make the speed required of him. We knew that the Ella Knight was a fast ship, and from that time on we knew that Adams was a man who would stand watchful.

By the middle of the day the storm had passed over and Adams took a reckoning off Cape Hatteras, North Carolina. Then we continued our journey without much of interest until nearly daylight the next morning.

All was quiet aboard the transport. As she rode through the darkness there was a report of a cannon, and the next instant a shell burst over the deck of the Ella Knight. From the short interval between the report of the gun and the shell's explosion the battery officers knew that we must be near the shore. Besides, the sound of the breakers from the heavy ocean swells could be heard lashing the sandy beach.

Each commissioned officer quickly reached for his sidearms, and they were soon on deck. J. R. Myrick (now major Fifth United States artillery) was the first to reach the pilothouse. Adams was at the wheel.

Myrick asked him, "Where are we?" Adams replied, "I reckon we are pretty high Fort Fisher—that was the orders, wasn't it?"

Quick as a flash Myrick's revolver swung under Adams' ear, and he ordered him to turn to sea. Adams turned deathly white as he remarked: "We are in the inside channel. If we turn to sea, we will have to ride the reef. If we ride it, we will be caught by the pirates outside of it," meaning the Union fleet. But at the same time he gave several fast turns to the wheel, and the transport swung half way round and headed for the reef. As we gained it there was a roaring and hissing sound and the waves shone with phosphorescent light. Soon we were in the line of sissing, glowing waves. One sudden bump of the vessel, and she had crossed the reef unharmed and was sailing in the old Atlantic.

Soon we saw the dim outline of a swift steamer approaching us from the larboard side. A challenge came through a trumpet: "Lay to, or we'll send a shot through you!"

Adams rang the engine bell. The ship soon lost its headway and swung idly in the seas. A few moments later a Union ensign appeared on deck. After learning the name and character of our ship he informed Adams that he had been under the guns of Half Moon battery, one and a half miles above Fort Fisher. Then he continued:

"I am Ensign — of dispatch boat No 2 of the blockading fleet. The balance of the transport fleet is 20 miles due east at sea."

Again our engines were started, and in a short time daylight began to creep over the ocean and we could see the transport fleet steaming toward land. Nothing was done with Adams, but I have always believed he intended to beach the Ella Knight under the guns of Fort Fisher.—Eugene Scott in New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the O. P. R. R., to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the O. P. R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given to the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

Resolved, "That the people of the island of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent."

PATRIOTIC NEVADA.

The Governor of Nevada offered the United States a battalion of 500 volunteers for service in the army during the war with Spain. The offer was refused by the War Department and Nevada's quota was limited to one troop of cavalry to form a part of the Second Regiment of United States Volunteer Cavalry, Colonel Torrey commanding. The numerous applications for enrollment indicate that Nevada would furnish a whole regiment of cavalry and a regiment of infantry. Every Company of the National Guard offered to go as infantry. Their services not being required for that arm of the service several of them, including commissioned officers, enlisted as privates in the cavalry. Of 68 men enrolled from Reno, Virginia City and Carson 48 are natives of Nevada, which proves that they are young men in the prime of life.

There is no more patriotic State in the Union than Nevada. The enlisted men are all respectable young fellows, many of whom leave responsible positions to serve their country. There is not a tramp in the troop. Many of them leave comfortable homes and loved ones, though no man was accepted who had a wife or child dependent upon him for support. The boys hope to be given opportunity to display their valor and the banner which floats at their quarters bears the motto, "Remember the Maine."

BRYAN REFUSED A COMMISSION.

Senator Jones of Nevada and several other prominent silver men called at the White House and asked the President to give William J. Bryan a commission in the army, as a matter of courtesy to that gentleman and the silver men of the United States. The President refused to accede to their request saying he had already appointed General Lee, a gold Democrat, and General Wheeler, a silver Democrat, to positions in the army, and would not commission a man who did not have a military training.

Abraham Lincoln was made of different material than the present occupant of the White House. Politics did not enter into Lincoln's calculations when he wanted men to preserve the Union. He commissioned John A. Logan, B. F. Butler and many others who differed from him politically, from civil life and they distinguished themselves in various ways and on many occasions during the war.

But Bryan is a big enough man whether he serves his country as a soldier in the field or a statesman in the councils of the Nation, whether McKinley recognizes him or not.

At Porto Rico, Probably.

The United States Government has been informed from reliable sources that the Spanish fleet, which left Cape Verde some days ago, after being at sea twenty-six hours, continued West, leaving no doubt that its destination was Porto Rico. That island, which is 1,200 miles east of Havana, is under the sovereignty of Spain, though the inhabitants, like those of Cuba, are rebellious.

Late dispatches say that Sampson's fleet sailed at Key West Wednesday and left for Porto Rico. If this news is reliable, it is probable that the next great naval battle will be fought at or near Porto Rico. If such a battle takes place it will probably end the war, as our fleet is considered superior to that of Spain. Another defeat will leave Spain in as helpless a condition as the Greeks were a year ago, when the Turks swarmed into their territory and were only prevented from taking Athens by the intervention of the great Powers of Europe.

General Weyler, the Spanish butcher, who starved and slaughtered defenseless women and children in Cuba, proposes to send 50,000 Spanish troops to the United States. He says they should be landed in some suitable part of this country, whence they could march forward, striking terror into the inhabitants and monopolizing the attention of the American army. The butcher expects to treat the people of the United States as he did the Cubans; but as he could not subjugate thirty or forty thousand poorly armed Cubans with 120,000 Spanish soldiers, his proposed invasion of the United States is merely an ebullition of gas.

The Elko Argonaut announces suspension of publication for two weeks on account of its entire force having volunteered to go to the front. Arrangements are being made to put in a new plant, enlarge the paper and publish full telegraphic reports.

RIOTING IN SPAIN.
No Official Report Yet Received From Admiral Dewey.

The Dispatch Boat Leydon Succeeded in Landing Cuban Scouts.

MADRID, May 5.—Disturbances are of frequent occurrence in various provinces of Spain owing to the high prices and scarcity of food. Civil Guards are attacked and shops are looted. At Barcelona there was a run on the banks the holders of notes demanding silver in exchange.

It is intended to prohibit speculation in such commodities as corn, flour, rice, maize and potatoes, and the exportation of products has been prohibited.

It is officially announced at Madrid that the Spanish cruiser Alfonso XIII, having troops and a cargo of supplies on board has arrived at Porto Rico. It was feared that she would be captured by the enemy.

Key West, May 5.—The United States dispatch boat Leydon sent to Cuba by this government to land Cuban scouts returned to this point at 4 o'clock this morning having succeeded in landing the scouts on Cuban soil in two parties. The Leydon was twice fired upon by Spanish troops, but in conjunction with the cruiser Wilmington and insurgent forces drove the Spanish back and effected a landing, the scouts soon forming a junction with General Pedro de Gamo's division of insurgents.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—No confirmation or information is obtainable at the War Department concerning the movements of Admiral Sampson's fleet. Some suppose the Admiral has gone to seize Porto Rico, others believe he has gone to meet the Oregon and Marietta and escort them to northern waters.

LONDON, May 5.—Demands have been made on the Spanish Government for an apology for the stoning of the British ship Lady Clemmell at Malaga and the driving of the ship from that harbor.

PARIS, May 5.—The Eclair says negotiations are pending between United States and Great Britain by which the latter agrees to support the former in eastern seas.

Word comes from Porto Rico that another uprising has taken place in Porto Rico and the rebellion is well under way.

MADRID, May 5.—The Imparcial this morning in referring to Lord Salisbury's speech yesterday at the meeting of the Primrose Club in London says that it seems it is understood both at London and at Washington the fact is solemnly proclaimed that robbery is legal.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Word comes from Tampa, Florida, that the United States steamer Oliveette, which has been lying at the docks with fires banked for several days sailed suddenly this morning for Key West.

The fact that several of General Shafter's staff accompanied the expedition is looked upon as significant of examining the facilities for the landing of troops.

The steamer Alamo from New York arrived at Key West to-day. She took 100 engineers from West Point belonging to Company 1 of the battalion of engineers.

The Secretary of the Navy to-day issued orders to Naval Constructor Wm. L. Capp, now at the Union Iron Works in San Francisco, to proceed at the earliest moment on board the steamer City of Pekin to meet Commodore Dewey's squadron at Manila.

Mr. Capp is instructed to employ a force of experienced workmen to proceed with him on the steamer and is instructed to take a full supply of machine tools, steel plate and all necessary equipment to make repairs on the ships of the squadron that were injured in the battle off Manila.

The Cuban Congress under the Autonomy Government was formally opened in Havana yesterday, with a great show of ceremony. Blanco addressed the Congress in a speech in which he said if the United States was sincere in its protestations for the benefit of Cubans, its guns ought to be heard in salute of the Deputies, saluting the first Cuban Parliament instead of threatening the lives of its members.

In speaking of the break in the cable electricians say that the cable is 628 miles long, but as there is probably considerable slack the length of the cable is likely to be about 700 miles. With the proper instrument such as are used on deep sea cables the break can be located within a half mile. The tests would be made from Hong Kong, where the company probably has the facilities for making such tests and for repairing cables.

The Navy Department officials from the Secretary down are very indignant at the reports of pretended news received from Manila concerning the losses sustained by Dewey. Captain Crowninshield was especially annoyed at these reports and said it was unreasonable to suppose that individuals would hear from our fleet before the Department.

Regarding the possibility of news from Commodore Dewey it was stated here to-day that judging from the fact that the British Government had advice to the effect that after the destruction of the Spanish fleet on Sunday the American commander gave no tice of bombardment of the town in 24 hours. This would place the time for such to take place on Monday afternoon. Seeing then that it would take a dispatch boat at least three days to reach either Hong Kong or Mrs Bay, she would not be due until to-night at the earliest.

Shakespeare's Autograph.

The rarest autographs in the world are probably Shakespeare's. Only seven are claimed to exist—three signatures to his will (two of which are doubtful), two to conveyances of property, one in the folio edition of his plays (doubtful) and one in a translation of Montaigne. This last is in the British museum and cost over 800 guineas.

A Tough Route.
"Somewhere in the south," says Congressman Sulloway, "a bright colored boy appeared before the civil service commission to be examined for the position of letter carrier. 'How far is it from the earth to the moon?' was the first question asked by those who were to determine the young man's fitness for the place he sought. 'How far am I from the earth to the moon?' echoed the applicant. 'My Lawd, boss, if you's gwine to put me on dat route I don't want de job.' With that the young man grabbed his hat and left as though he were chased."
Easy to Tell.
On being asked what letter comes after A, wee Beth replied quickly, "The one that stings mamma."—New York Truth.

There is no lack of enterprise on the part of Henry Riter. Everything is up-to-date at the Elite and the most fastidious person can find no fault in the style or quality of his liquid refreshments.
Fred and Pete have the finest billiard and pool tables in the town, and the Anheuser beer on draught at 5 cents a glass is a drawing card. For excellent treatment as well as entertainment call at the Monarch.
Thy's war bulletins each day attract a large number of people, anxious to hear the latest news. They also have the opportunity of glancing at his big line of samples in the show window and reading the plainly marked prices.
The several towns of the State where volunteers left for Carson gave their boys an enthusiastic send off, but Reno did not develop any great enthusiasm. When the boys pass through, however, on their way to the front Reno will whoop it up in style.
Charles M. Shortridge is thinking seriously of locating in Reno, that is as seriously as he ever thinks. He changes his thinker so often as to his future movements that it would require a stenographic phonograph to record his thoughts as expressed aloud and a kinetoscope to detail the rapidity of his movements.
A. Nelson is constantly replenishing his stock. Special or clearance sales are not his method. His prices are always at the closest margin on his stock of hats, caps, underwear in various grades, overalls, jumpers, gloves and a general assortment of men's goods. Also a complete line of smoker's articles including a line of cigars and tobaccos, equal to many wholesale houses. In fact he does a general jobbing business in this line and sells to the trade. In the line of novelties pocket cutlery and many handy and necessary articles, Nelson is hard to beat. Free employment office at his store, Virginia street, Reno.

NEVADA CAVALRY.

Troop Will be Ready for Examination and Muster Saturday.
The Governor has heard from all the National Guard Companies in the State and they will furnish, as far as reported, about one-half of the 85 men required for Nevada's troop of the Second United States Volunteer Cavalry. Virginia City will furnish about 25 men, Reno 20, Winnemucca 15, Elko 25 and Carson 15. Many of those enrolled are not members of the National Guard, but they are good horsemen, accustomed to the use of firearms, physically strong and active and withal fine looking young men.
Adjutant General H. C. Corbin, U. S. A., telegraphs that the War Department will pay transportation of enrolled men to the place of rendezvous and furnish maintenance for them in the interval between enrollment and the time they are mustered into service.
The Governor has notified the War Department that the men will be ready for examination and muster Saturday, May 8th.
The Agricultural Society's grounds at Carson, where Corbett and Fitzsimmons exchanged compliments, have been selected as camping grounds for the troop. Tents are being erected and the place has a decided military appearance.
The Reno contingent, 21 strong, all fine looking young men, were the first to put in an appearance at the rendezvous. They reached Carson on the V. & T. local train Wednesday afternoon and formed in a column led by Captain Wright of the Reno Guards and Lieutenant Gignoux of the University Cadets marched down Main street to the Capitol, where they were received by Governor Sadler.
The boys were cheered along the line of march and cries "Remember the Maine" were heard in every direction.
Following are the names of the volunteers from Reno: W. O. Wright, age 28; J. Kiefer, 21; Thomas Murray, 30; Edward Mannell, 28; W. J. Beard, 30; J. L. Bryant, 21; Roy Stoddard, 21; C. Nelson, 34; R. G. Staley, 18; J. H. Wallace, 41; G. F. Easter, 21; Fred E. Gignoux, 21; Gordon Freeman, 28; S. V. Dickinson, 38; J. C. Ross, 20; Norman U. Estby, 21; Wassen G. Rice, 18; James Devine, 28; George I. Clark, 28; Nat G. Wright, 18.
Following are the names of the volunteers from the Comstock.
Lieutenant R. O. Gray, Fred Harris, Bert Harris, Alvin Lynde, Ed. J. Thomas, W. H. Schweiss, A. M. King, A. C. Wilson, Lewis Berry, John Williams, Walter Dunn, John C. Charles, Jake King, Wm. J. Walsh, W. S. Dexter, P. R. Coryell, C. N. Murphy, Bert Harrington, Charles Kyle, R. H. Hoskins, George McDonald and Chas. Young.
The following represent Elko's contingent passing through for Carson yesterday:
Bert Greenwood, Geo. Fraser, Albert Butler, C. H. Henderson, Arthur E. Kinney, Will David, H. N. Riddle, Joe C. Harris, Harry Faulkerson, H. T. Riddle, Phil Triplett, Geo. B. Russell, C. H. McIntosh, Jesse Snyder, J. C. Harney, Bert Holm, G. E. McMurray, J. Courtney, L. H. McMahon, Mike Evans, T. J. Kelley, Ed. Leitcher, C. A. Snyder, Chas. Ross, Geo. Campbell, Richard Norton, M. P. Booth, David Blake, E. W. Gissiman, James Neal, Joe Robinson, William Price, A. H. Bowman and Ralph Martin.
The following arrived from Winnemucca last evening on their way to Carson: W. J. Richards, J. C. Clark, W. Woodson, J. H. Robinson, C. A. Farthing, Wm. J. Daily, Ed. Brown, Dick DeForest, Elmer H. Duncan, Al Jackson, Wm. Healy, John J. Hill, Jr.
Six more are expected to arrive from Winnemucca this morning or to-night, also eight from Elko.
Nevada Imposed Upon.
Idaho's quota of volunteers was increased from two troops of cavalry to two battalions of infantry of four companies each. The change was made through the efforts of Senator Shoup of that State, who worked hard to get the quota increased. Nevada's representatives in Congress failed to get an increase of Nevada's quota of volunteers, being informed that the original call could not be changed. As it has been done in the case of several other States, it seems that either Nevada's Senators and Representatives or the National Guardsmen of the State have been imposed upon.
Off For the Front.
Twenty-eight of Elko's brightest young men arrived on the westbound yesterday morning on their way to Carson to enlist. Among them were Will David, formerly of the Tribune published here, Ged B. Russell of the Independent and H. N. and H. J. Riddle of the Elko Publishing Company. They registered at the Palace Hotel and left for Carson on the afternoon train.

THE CAVALRY TROOP.
Nearly One Hundred Men Encamped at Carson.
It looks war-like at the State Capital. Tents from the National Guard stores have been provided for the Troop at the Fair Ground. The tents are arranged to accommodate four men each, and, so far, the men are lodged at the several hotels in town.
Reno furnishes 21 men, the Elko 22, Elko 25, Elko 23, all of whom are at the grounds. The Winnemucca contingent arrived at Reno last night and will move on to Carson to-day. Volunteers from Eureka, Tinsboro and other parts of the State have offered their services by telegraph, but as the quota is made up making liberal allowances for those who will be rejected by the army surgeon for physical causes no more can be accepted. The men may be kept in camp for several days awaiting the arrival of a surgeon and mustering officer.

Take one half the mixture and put into the pan they are to be baked in. Then take one-half of the whites and lay in the batter, with the opening of the whites up, and pour the balance of the mixture on the egg, filling the opening. Take the other half of the egg and put on top of the egg in the pan. Bake and serve hot.
Sweet Potato Pie—Six potatoes boiled and mashed through sieve, one cup of butter, one cup of sugar, four eggs, one lemon grated and squeezed in the potatoes while hot, half nutmeg grated, one cup of rich milk. Bake with an under crust only.

A Clever Trick.
It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can take it who has lame back and weak kidneys, malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to liver and kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures constipation, head ache, fainting spells, sleeplessness and melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at S. J. Hodgkinson's Drug Store.

Lincoln, Grant and Stephens.
General Horace Porter, in his "Campaigning With Grant," tells a story of the meeting at City Point between Alexander H. Stephens, vice president of the Confederate states, and other southern commissioners and President Lincoln and Secretary Seward to discuss preliminaries of peace. Many officers, including General Grant and General Porter, were in attendance on this meeting.
Vice President Stephens was a tall, undersized man, whose skin seemed shriveled on his bones. One of the officers said of him, at the end of an interview, "The Lord seems to have rubbed that man's body of all its flesh and blood to make brains of them."
On his arrival, Mr. Stephens, said General Porter, was wrapped from his eyes to his heels in a coarse gray overcoat about three sizes too large for him, with a collar so high that it threatened to lift his hat off every time he heaved his head back.
The coat, together with his complexion, which was as yellow as a ripe ear of corn, gave rise to a characterization by Mr. Lincoln which was very amusing. The next time Mr. Lincoln saw General Grant at City Point, after the conference, he said to him:
"Grant, did you notice Stephens' coat?"
"Oh, yes," answered the general.
"Well," continued Mr. Lincoln, "soon after we assembled on the steamer at Hampton Roads the cabin began to get pretty warm, and Stephens stood up and pulled off his big coat. He pulled it off just about as you would husk an ear of corn. I couldn't help thinking, as I looked first at the coat and then at the man:
"Well, if that isn't the biggest shuck and the fittest nubbin I ever did see!"
The Bomb in Jeff Davis' Desk.
When the United States troops occupied Richmond, April 3, 1865, General Edward H. Ripley of Vermont, who was appointed military governor of the city, found in the desk of Jefferson Davis, in the house occupied by the Confederate president, a cast iron bomb in the shape of a lump of coal. It was evidently cast from a good sized piece of coal, was coated with coal tar and coal dust and could hardly be distinguished, when handled, from a lump of coal. It was hollow and would hold powder enough to make a heavy explosion. Army authorities have never doubted that the otherwise unexplained blowing up of a steam vessel loaded with ammunition at City Point was the work of a bomb of this kind, which had been dropped into a pile of coal and shoveled into the furnace of the steamer, and similar bombs probably occasioned similar catastrophes during the war.
Millions Given Away.

WONDERFUL RESCUE.
HOW SERGEANT VAUGHAN SAVED A LIFE AT A HOTEL FIRE.
A Member of the New York Department
Who Endangered His Own Life to Save
a Guest of the Hotel Royal Who Had About Given Up All Hope.
Jacob A. Bliss, author of "How the Other Half Lives," writes of "Heroes Who Fight Fire" in the Century. The article is one of the series "Heroes of Peace." Mr. Bliss tells the following story of a heroic rescue at the Hotel
Royal fire in New York some years ago:
Sergeant Vaughan went up on the roof. The smoke was so dense there that he could see little, but through it he heard a cry for help and made out the shape of a man standing upon a window sill in the fifth story overlooking the courtyard of the hotel. The yard was between them. Bidding his men follow—they were five all told—he ran down and around in the next street to the roof of the house that formed an angle with the hotel wing.
There stood the man below him only a jump away, but a jump which no mortal might take and live. His face and hands were black with smoke. Vaughan, looking down, thought him a negro. He was perfectly calm.
"It is no use," he said, glancing up.
"Don't try. You can't do it."
The sergeant looked wistfully about him. Not a stick or a piece of rope was in sight. Every shred was used below.
There was absolutely nothing. "But I couldn't let him," he said to me months
after, when he had come out of the hospital a whole man again and was back at work, "I just couldn't, standing there so quiet and brave." To the men
he said sharply:
"I want you to do exactly as I tell you now. Don't grab me, but let me get the first grab." He had noticed that the man wore a heavy overcoat, and had already laid his plan.
"Don't try," urged the man. "You cannot save me. I will stay here till it gets too hot, then I will jump."
"No, you won't," from the sergeant,
as he lay at full length on the roof, looking over. "It is a pretty hard yard down
there. I will get you or go dead myself."
The four sat on the sergeant's legs as he swung free down to the waist, so he was almost able to reach the man on the window, with outstretched hands.
"Now, jump—quick!" he commanded, and the man jumped. He caught him by both wrists as directed, and the sergeant got a grip on the collar of his coat.
"Hoist!" he shouted to the four on the roof, and they tugged with their might. The sergeant's body did not move. Bending over till the back cracked, it hung over the edge, a weight of 200 pounds suspended from and holding it down. The cold sweat started upon his men's foreheads as they tried and tried again, without gaining an inch.
Blood dripped from Sergeant Vaughan's nostrils and ears. Sixty feet below was the paved courtyard. Over against him was the window, behind which he saw the back draft coming, gathering headway with lurid, swirling smoke. Now it burst through, burning the hair and the coats of the two. For an instant he thought all hope was gone.
But in a flash it came back to him.
To relieve the terrible dead weight that wrenched and tore at his muscles he was swinging the man to and fro like a pendulum, head touching head. He could swing him up! A smothered shout warned his men. They crept nearer the edge without letting go their grip on him and watched with staring eyes the human pendulum swing wider and wider,
farther and farther, until now, with a mighty effort, it swung within their reach. They caught the skirt of the coat, held on, pulled in, and in a moment
lifted him over the edge.
They lay upon the roof, all six,
breathless, sightless, their faces turned to the winter sky. The tumult of the street came up as a faint echo. The spray of a score of engines pumping below fell upon them, froze and covered them with ice. The very roar of the fire seemed far off. The sergeant was the first to recover. He carried down the man he had saved and saw him sent off to the hospital. Then first he noticed that he was not a negro. The smut had been rubbed off his face. Monday had dawned before he came to, and days passed before he knew his rescuer. Sergeant Vaughan was laid up himself then. He had returned to his work and finished it, but what he had gone through was too much for human strength. It was some time before he returned to his quarters, to find himself promoted, petted and made much of.

WHERE WOMEN RULE.
What a Social Student Found in an Eastern Province.
While studying social conditions in oriental lands Dr. Alice B. Stockham was advised by Tolstol to visit the Naiars on the Malabar coast of India,
and witness a type of civilization unknown elsewhere among the inhabitants of earth. Here, according to a writer, the husband is a mere incident in the social organization. Woman's power is autocratic and absolute. She wins or divorces a husband at will. She frames and administers the laws by which he lives, and through her is the descent of the property, which he may earn, but not own. The ricefield is his active arena, and if industrious and frugal—proving himself capable of maintaining a family—some Nair maid invites him to become her husband. The successful man of eligible years is wooed and won
as is the fortunate and accomplished
maiden of our country.
The improbability of manifesting affection for a woman before it is solicited is thoroughly instilled into the mind of the Nair man, and, while the strife between natural tendencies and national custom may sometimes approach the nature of an irrepressible conflict, to yield is ruin and humiliation irreparable.
The eligible bachelor must await an avowal of love and choice and suffer in silence if it be long withheld. The Naiars are of Brahman origin and much above the average inhabitants of India
in intelligence and in the administration of their native government. Better native schools are found here than elsewhere in India, and a surprising degree
of domestic contentment.—Springfield

SUMMONS.
IN THE SECOND JUDICIAL DIStrict Court of the State of Nevada, in and

The State of Nevada sends to Anna Eliza
Barnes, widow, Frances Emily Cornelison,

Barnes, Etta Florence Laws, formerly Barnes,
Eva V. Barnes, Etta V. Barnes, Josephine M.
Barnes and Frank A. Barnes, Greeting:—
You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendants by Andrew Benson as plaintiff in the Second Judicial District Court of the State of Nevada,
in and for the County of Washoe, and answer
the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this Summons (exclusive of day of service), if served in said county, but within said District, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The action is brought to recover against you and each of you an order
and decree of foreclosure and sale of the following mentioned and described real property to-wit: All those certain lots or parcels of land situated in the town of Reno, county of Washoe and State of Nevada, known as
and described as lots ten, eleven and twelve in Block "B" as designated upon the official
"map" of said town of Reno, together fronting 150 feet on the west line of Sierra street with depth westerly of the same width of 120 feet
to an alley, and bounded on the south by an alley, and upon which lots is situated the structure known as Golden Eagle Hotel, and upon such order being made—that it then be ordered and decreed by the Court—that from the proceeds of a sale of said property that the costs of foreclosure and sale be paid, and an attorney's fee to the sum of $150 and such other expenses as may accrue from a sale of said property, and after payment of costs and expenses of sale that the sum of the note mentioned in the complaint and the interest thereon accrued be paid to the sum of $5,271.71-100; also moneys paid as taxes to the sum of $164.31-100
be paid from the remaining proceeds arising upon a sale of said property. Also that Henry Orr, and John Doe, whose real name is unknown to plaintiff, be made defendants, and that they and each of them by answer exhibit
any claim or demand they or either of them
may have upon said property, and that defendants be foreclosed from any equity of redemption they or any of them may have in and to said property or any of it except as provided by law.
All of which will more fully appear from the Complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said
